

Our Heroes by Phoebe Cary

Here's a hand to the boy who has courage
 To do what he knows to be right;
 When he falls in the way of temptation,
 He has a hard battle to fight.
 Who strives against self and his comrades
 Will find a most powerful foe.
 All honor to him if he conquers.
 A cheer for the boy who says, "NO!"

There's many a battle fought daily
 The world knows nothing about;
 There's many a brave little soldier
 Whose strength puts a legion to rout.
 And he who fights sin singlehanded
 Is more of a hero, I say,
 Than he who leads soldiers to battle
 And conquers by arms in the fray.

Be steadfast, my boy, when you're tempted,
 To do what you know to be right.
 Stand firm by the colors of manhood,
 And you will o'ercome in the fight.
 "The right," be your battle cry ever
 In waging the warfare of life,
 And God, who knows who are the heroes,
 Will give you the strength for the strife.

We're a family seeking to share God's love.

The Making of a Church Bulletin

Twenty-nine-and-a-half years ago, I printed my first church bulletin. That was for the Fairview Church of Christ in Childress, Texas, the first congregation that I served as a preacher. I was inspired by my grandmother, Laverne Saunders, who had been printing the bulletins for the Forgan, Oklahoma and McLean, Texas Churches of Christ for nearly 40 years previously. As I moved to Childress, I was excited to begin doing something that she had done for so long.

I printed my first Childress bulletin using the new Microsoft software called Publisher. Nearly 30 years and six churches later, I am still using the same platform to create weekly bulletins that I have titled Weekly Update.

I relate this because starting this week I may have to find a new program to create my bulletins. Microsoft has decided to discontinue Publisher at the end of this month, and that end comes on Wednesday. I am not certain what our bulletin next week will look like, so be patient with me as I figure out new ways of doing what I love to do. There is not another computer program available that does what Publisher does.
